duties which are harmful to the regular and timely discharge of duties and to the function of the state prosecution office;

8) they fail to file motion for establishing disciplinary liability of the state prosecutor or the head of the state prosecution office in cases for which that is prescribed by the law, although they are aware or should have been aware that there are reasons for disciplinary liability;

9) they are temporarily removed from the office of the state prosecutor;

10) they are given the grade unsatisfactory.

Motion for Dismissal

Article 126

(Law amending the Law on State Prosecution Service, Official Gazette of Montenegro 059/21 as of 04 June 2021, Article 13)

(Law amending the Law on State Prosecution Service, Official Gazette of Montenegro 054/24 as of 11 June 2024, Article 57)

The motion for dismissal of the head of the state prosecutor's office may be submitted by the head of the immediately higher state prosecutor's office, the supreme state prosecutor, the minister of justice or at least three members of the Prosecutorial Council.

The motion for dismissal referred to in paragraph 1 of this Article shall be filed immediately upon learning that disciplinary offence has been committed.

Should the Prosecutorial Council decide on the proposal for dismissal referred to in paragraph 1 of this Article, members of the Prosecutorial Council who submitted the proposal for the dismissal of the head of the state prosecution shall not participate in the work of the Prosecutorial Council.

Appropriate Application

Article 127

Provisions of this Law that govern the procedure of establishing disciplinary liability of the state prosecutor shall be applied accordingly to the procedure of dismissal of the head of the state prosecution office.

3. Dismissal due to the permanent loss of ability to discharge duties of prosecutorial office

Procedure and Decision

Article 128

State prosecutor shall be dismissed if they permanently lose the ability to discharge the duties of the prosecutorial office.

Motion for dismissal in case of permanent loss of the ability to discharge the duties of the prosecutorial office shall be filed on the basis of the final court judgment depriving the state prosecutor of legal capacity or the decision of the relevant authority establishing that the physical or psychological characteristics of the state prosecutor are such that they are unable to perform the duties of the prosecutorial office.

If the behaviour of the state prosecutor or their attitude to work lead to the suspicion that they might have permanently lost the ability to perform the duties of the prosecutorial office, Prosecutorial Council may, at its own initiative or upon a motion of the head of the state prosecution office, decide that the state prosecutor shall undergo specialist doctor's examination.

The motion for dismissal of the state prosecutor due to the permanent loss of their ability shall be filed by the head of the state prosecution office for the state prosecutor, and by the head of an immediately higher state prosecution office and supreme state prosecutor for the head of the state prosecution office; and the session of the Supreme State Prosecution Office for the supreme state prosecutor.

In the procedure of dismissal due to permanent loss of ability to perform the duties of prosecutorial office, the state prosecutor shall be entitled to make a statement regarding the motion for dismissal.

Decision on dismissal due to permanent loss of ability to perform the duties of prosecutorial office shall be rendered by the Prosecutorial Council and administrative dispute may be initiated against it.

IX. INTERNAL ORGANISATION OF WORK OF THE STATE PROSECUTION SERVICE

1. Relations in the State Prosecution Office

Duty of the Supreme State Prosecutor Article 129

Supreme State Prosecutor shall be responsible for performing the tasks of the State Prosecution Service and for taking measures and activities for the purpose of ensuring efficient and lawful operation of the State Prosecution Service.

Independence in the Work of State Prosecutors Article 130

The state prosecutor shall be accountable for the work on the case they have been assigned and shall be independent in their work and decision-making, except in the cases set out in Article 131 of this Law.

The state prosecutor shall introduce the head of the state prosecution office, at their request, to the work on a specific case and the decision they intend to make, as well as to the work on a specific case in which complex factual and legal issues are raised.

Mandatory Operating Instructions Article 131

For the purposes of uniform application of the law in operations of the State Prosecution Service, mandatory operating instructions may be issued.

The mandatory operating instruction, in terms of this law, shall mean the instruction of general nature and instructions to proceed in individual cases.

The instructions of general nature shall be issued by the supreme state prosecutor, while the head of the state prosecution office may initiate their adoption as they consider needed. The instruction of general nature shall be issued in written form.

The instruction for proceeding in an individual case shall be issued by:

- 1) supreme state prosecutor for state prosecutors from the Supreme State Prosecution Office and for the chief special prosecutor, as well as for the heads of high and basic state prosecution offices;
- 2) chief special prosecutor for special prosecutors from that prosecution office;
- 3) head of the high state prosecution office for state prosecutors from that prosecution office and for heads of basic state prosecution offices from its territory;
- 4) heads of basic state prosecution offices for state prosecutors from these prosecution offices.

State prosecutors, and heads of prosecution offices, may initiate issuance of the instructions referred to in paragraph 4 of this Article if they consider it is needed for their work.

Manner of Issuing Instruction for Proceeding in an Individual Case Article 132

Instruction for proceeding in an individual case shall be issued in written form and with the explanation. Exceptionally, when the circumstances do not allow for that, the instruction may be issued in an oral form, but it shall also be issued in written form within the appropriate time-frame.

Head of the state prosecution office and the state prosecutor who has been issued the instruction for proceeding in an individual case shall have the right to indicate if such instruction is not in compliance with the law and if it is ungrounded and to request that such instruction be issued in written form if it was given orally and if it was given in written form to request that it be repeatedly issued in the same form.

If the instruction for proceeding in an individual case is repeatedly issued in terms of paragraph 2 of this Article, and the head of the state prosecution office or state prosecutor still consider the instruction non-compliant with the law or ill-founded, the head of the state prosecution office can, upon their written and reasoned request, release them of the duty to proceed in that particular case if there is no danger of delay, and they can assign the case to another head of the state prosecution office, i.e. state prosecutor.

The state prosecutor may not be liable for the opinion expressed referred to in paragraph 2 of this Article and for a request submitted in accordance with paragraph 3 of this Article.

Relations in the State Prosecution Office Article 133

Supreme state prosecutor can directly exercise all the authorities and undertake all the actions for which the head of the Special State Prosecution Office, of the high state prosecution office, i.e. head of the basic state prosecution office are authorised by law.

Supreme state prosecutor can, due to recusal or for other justified reasons that may have impact on further conduct of the proceedings, delegate certain cases or actions taken in relation to these cases that fall within competence of the high state prosecution office or basic state prosecution office to the other state prosecution office with subject-matter jurisdiction.

Supreme state prosecutor can, due to recusal or for other justified reasons that may have impact on further conduct of the proceedings, delegate certain cases or certain actions taken in relation to these cases that fall within competence of the Special Prosecution Office to the Supreme State Prosecution Office.

Head of the high state prosecution office can directly exercise all the authorities and undertake all the actions for which the head of the basic state prosecution office from their territory is authorised by law.

If there are justified reasons, head of the high state prosecution office may delegate certain cases or certain actions taken in relation to these cases that fall within competence of the basic state prosecution office in their territory to the other basic prosecution office in their territory.

The decision on taking over the authorities or actions or on delegating them to the other state prosecutor in terms of paras. 1 through 5 of this Article shall be adopted in written form.

Supervision over Work Article 134

(Law amending the Law on State Prosecution Service, Official Gazette of Montenegro 054/24 as of 11 June 2024, Article 58)

Supreme State Prosecution Office shall exercise supervision over work of the Special State Prosecution Office, high prosecution office and basic prosecution office.

High state prosecution office shall exercise supervision over work of the basic prosecution office from its territory.

The Supreme State Prosecution Office shall exercise supervision over work of state prosecution offices by gaining direct insight into the work of each individual state prosecution office and by taking other appropriate measures for ensuring efficient and lawful work of the State Prosecution Service.

The supervision referred to in paragraph 3 of this Article shall be exercised in accordance with the supervision plan established by the supreme state prosecutor.

High state prosecution offices shall once in every two years exercise supervision over the overall work of the state prosecution offices in its territory in accordance with the special supervision plan established by the head of the high prosecution office.

Extraordinary supervision over the work of state prosecutions may be carried out upon the proposal of the Supreme State Prosecutor, the head of the immediately superior prosecution office, or the Prosecutorial Council, if problems in the work of the state prosecution are identified due to a large number of unresolved cases, increased inflow or complexity of cases, or other issues in the functioning of the state prosecution.

The manner of conducting supervision shall be stipulated in more detail by the Rulebook on Internal Operations of the State Prosecution Service.

Public Relations

Article 135

Information about the work of the State Prosecution Service shall be provided by the supreme state prosecutor or by a person they have authorised, whereas information about the work of state prosecution offices shall be provided by the heads of state prosecution offices or by the persons they have authorised.

In informing the public about the work on a specific case, it is only the information about the actions that were taken or are taken that may be provided, without mentioning the names of participants in proceedings or content of the actions taken.

Information that may have impact on the conduct of proceedings may not be available to the public.

A special public relations service may be set up at the state prosecution offices for the purpose of informing the public.

2. Prosecutorial Management

Organisation of the Work

Article 136

The organization of the work of the State Prosecution includes the management of the state prosecution, the organization of prosecutorial departments and sessions of the state prosecution, as well as the internal affairs of the state prosecution.

Organization of the work of the state prosecution office referred to in paragraph 1 of this Article shall be regulated by the Rulebook on internal operation of the state prosecution office which is adopted by the Ministry of Justice after having previously obtained opinion of the Prosecutorial Council.

Management

Article 137

(Law amending the Law on State Prosecution Service, Official Gazette of Montenegro 054/24 as of 11 June 2024, Article 59)

is responsible for the performance of the state prosecution and he/she undertakes measures and actions for an efficient and legal performance of the tasks.

The president of the state prosecution organizes work in the state prosecution, carries out a schedule of tasks and takes measures with the aim of regular and timely execution of tasks.

In the event of absence, being prevented to discharge duties or upon expiry of the term of office, the head of the state prosecution office shall be replaced by the state prosecutor appointed by the session of the state prosecution office for each calendar year, upon the proposal by the head of the state prosecution office.

A state prosecutor who replaces the head of the state prosecution in the cases referred to in paragraph 3 of this Article shall have the rights and obligations of the head of the state prosecution.

Internal Operation of the State Prosecution Office

Article 138

Internal operation of the State Prosecution Office shall include tasks of the prosecutorial management and tasks involving use of the judicial information system.

The prosecution administration works on tasks that ensure the regular and timely work of the state prosecution, and in particular: internal job distribution; consideration of complaints and petitions; keeping records and reports; work of the registry and archives; financial and material operations, expert, administrative, IT, analytical and other affairs for the state Prosecution.

Judicial information system is a unique electronic system for case management into which data from registries of the state prosecution offices are entered, stored and transmitted.

Allocation of Tasks

Article 139

Head of the state prosecution office shall establish annual allocation of tasks for the current year at the latest by 15 January, which ensures equitable allocation of tasks and necessary specialisation of state prosecutors.

Case Allocation
Article 140

Cases shall be allocated in a manner which ensures impartiality, independence and efficiency of work.

Withdrawal the Allocated Cases
Article 141

The allocated case shall be withdrawn from the state prosecutor if it is established that they are unjustifiably proceeding in the case, due to recusal or if they are prevented from discharging duties for longer than a month.

The cases the urgent nature of which is stipulated in the law can be withdrawn from the state prosecutor if due to their absence or because they are prevented from discharging duties they cannot proceed in such cases in a timely manner and within the time-limit set by the law.

Head of the state prosecution office shall render a decision on case withdrawal.

Decision on case withdrawal shall be submitted to the state prosecutor whose case is withdrawn.

A complaint against the decision on case withdrawal shall be permitted and it shall be filed with the head of an immediately higher state prosecution office, whereas against the supreme state prosecutor`s decision it shall be filed with session of the Supreme State Prosecution Office, within three days from the day of receiving the decision.

Decision on the complaint shall be rendered within two days from the day of receiving the complaint.

The complaint shall not stay enforcement of the decision only in detention cases.

If the complaint is accepted, the case shall be assigned to the state prosecutor from whom it has been withdrawn.

Stand-by and On-call Duty
Article 142

Head of the state prosecution office shall organise permanent stand-by and on-call duty for the purpose of ensuring efficient operations, and particularly for the purpose of carrying out preliminary investigation tasks and other urgent tasks related to possible commission of criminal offences and other punishable acts.

The manner of performing and duration of the stand-by and on-call duty shall be decided upon by the head of the state prosecution office.

Session of the State Prosecution Service Article 143

In order to consider certain matters that are important for operation, the head of the state prosecution office shall convene a session of the state prosecution office and chair the session.

The session of the state prosecution office shall be composed of the head of the state prosecution office and state prosecutors from that state prosecution office.

The head of the state prosecution office shall convene the session upon the request of at least one third of the state prosecutors.

In the session of the state prosecution office, decisions may be rendered if the session is attended by at least two thirds of state prosecutors, whereas decision shall be adopted if the majority of the state prosecutors present in the session votes for it, unless this Law requires otherwise for certain matters.

Scope of Work of the Session Article 144

Session of the State Prosecution Service:

- 1) consider the programme of work and the report on work of the state prosecution office;
- 2) take positions on general matters from within the scope of work of the state prosecution office;
- 3) adopt rules of procedure on its work;
- 4) consider matters that are important for professional advancement, organisation of work and the overall operation of the state prosecution office;
- 5) consider proposal of the annual schedule of tasks;
- 6) decide on other matters that are important for operation of the state prosecution office.

Session of the Supreme State Prosecution Office Article 145

In addition to the activities referred to in Article 144 of this Law, session of the Supreme State Prosecution Office shall also:

- 1) issue opinions on draft pieces of legislation that are important for performing prosecutorial function;
- 2) indicate problems in the implementation of draft pieces of legislation that are important for performing prosecutorial function;
